

Clients Rights and Responsibilities

All Oonah programs are delivered within a cultural framework of respect, caring and sharing

Clients are entitled to:

- Be treated with dignity, respect and courtesy by all staff, contractors, Directors and volunteers of Oonah.
- Receive safe, competent, high quality health care and be involved in your treatment planning and decision making.
- Have your cultural and social needs, disability, ethnicity, religion, age, gender and sexual orientation respected and considered during service provision.
- Ask questions about what you are consenting to and the information you are providing to ensure informed consent is obtained.
- Confidentiality of your health and personal details, unless consent is provided to share information or there are safety concerns about you or someone else.
- Provide or withhold consent for treatment.
- Be informed of cost of services provided by Oonah and/or for referral services.
- Provide feedback on services provided and make a comment or complaint without experiencing any adverse consequences.
- Make a complaint if you feel your rights have been denied or you have received sub-standard care.
- Be informed of religious or other affiliation that the organisation has and how or if this plays any role in the service provided to you.
- Withdraw from the service at any time.

Clients are expected to:

- Treat staff, contractors, Board members, volunteers and other clients with respect, dignity and courtesy and respect their personal cultural and diversity
- diversityAttend the Belonging Place, programs or activities run by Oonah unaffected by drugs or alcohol.
- Provide information about your health, changes in your medical condition or anything else that might impact on your care.
- Ask questions if you do not fully understand issues or procedures.
- Tell staff if you have any concerns regarding your care so they can respond.
- Contribute to our treatment planning.
- Participate in your treatment to the best of your ability.
- When receiving services online eg via telephone, video conferencing to advise if anyone else is present and not to record the session.
- Keep appointments or let us know when you are unable to attendance.
- Advise Oonah of any changes to your address, contact details or Medicare.
- Be aware that you may need to wait for attention or treatment at times if staff are attending other clients.
- Accept that your health information may be shared with appropriate agencies (with your permission) as authorised by law such as Centrelink or WorkCover.
- Respect the privacy of others